Fragment of a medieval manuscript page featuring musical notation and Latin text. The page is heavily damaged, with a large, irregular white patch obscuring the central portion. The visible text is written in a Gothic script on red four-line staves. The text includes the words "cant eleison" and "Ipsi", followed by "ste leyson. leyson". The musical notation consists of black square neumes on red lines. A large, ornate initial letter, possibly a 'C' or 'E', is visible on the left side, decorated with blue and red filigree and floral motifs. The paper is aged and stained, particularly around the edges of the white patch.

Detailed description: This is a page from a medieval manuscript, likely a Mass book, featuring Gregorian chant notation. The page is numbered 'CXXVII.' in the top right corner. The text is written in a Gothic script on red four-line staves. The lyrics are: 'li di tis cre di diti V B us ui rgo dei et homi nem ge nu i sti V E'. The word 'B' is a large, ornate initial decorated with blue and gold floral patterns. The 'V' characters are red. The musical notation consists of black square neumes on red lines, with some neumes marked with asterisks. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and wear.
